Neurons are specialized for the transmission of nerve impulses. The nucleus is located in the cell body of the neuron. From the cell body, two types of structures carry out transmission functions. Dendrites transmit nerve impulses from other cells or sensory systems. Axons provide for the transmission of nerve impulses away from the cell body. A single neuron cell can be over a meter long due to the length of its axon. Schwann cells are the supporting cells associated with axons. They form a(n) myelin sheath around many vertebrate neurons. Nodes of Ranvier interrupt the myelin sheath where the axon is in direct contact with surrounding intercellular fluid. The junction between a neuron and a muscle is called a(n) neuromuscular junction. Acetylcholine is the neurotransmitter. At a neuromuscular junction, acetylcholine released from a(n) axon depolarizes the muscle cell membrane and triggers muscle contractions.
