Advances in Informatics and Computing in Civil and Construction Engineering Ivan Mutis, Timo Hartmann, 2018-10-08
This proceedings volume chronicles the papers presented at the 35th CIB W78 2018 Conference IT in Design Construction and Management held in Chicago IL USA in October 2018. The theme of the conference focused on fostering, encouraging, and promoting research and development in the application of integrated information technology (IT) throughout the life cycle of the design, construction, and occupancy of buildings and related facilities. The CIB International Council for Research and Innovation in Building Construction was established in 1953 as an association whose objectives were to stimulate and facilitate international cooperation and information exchange between governmental research institutes in the building and construction sector, with an emphasis on those institutes engaged in technical fields of research. The conference brought together more than 200 scholars from 40 countries who presented the innovative concepts and methods featured in this collection of papers.

Fundamentals of Agricultural and Field Robotics Manoj Karkee, Qin Zhang, 2021-07-27
Over the past century, mechanization has been an important means for optimizing resource utilization, improving worker health and safety, and reducing labor requirements in farming while increasing productivity and quality of 4F (Food, Fuel, Fiber, Feed). Recognizing this contribution, agricultural mechanization was considered as one of the top ten engineering achievements of the 20th century by the National Academy of Engineering. Accordingly, farming communities have adopted an increasing level of automation and robotics to further improve the precision management of crops, including input resources, increase productivity, and reduce farm labor beyond what has been possible with conventional mechanization technologies. It is more important than ever to continue to develop and adopt novel automation and robotic solutions into farming so that some of the most complex agricultural tasks, which require a huge amount of seasonal labor such as fruit and vegetable harvesting, could be automated while meeting the rapidly increasing need for 4F. In addition, continual innovation in and adoption of agricultural automation and robotic technologies is essential to minimize the use of depleting resources, including water, minerals, and other chemicals, so that a sufficient amount of safe and healthy food can be produced for the current generation while not compromising the potential for the future generation. This book aims at presenting the fundamental principles of various aspects of automation and robotics as they relate to production agriculture, the branch of agriculture dealing with farming operations from field preparation to seeding to harvesting and field logistics. The building blocks of agricultural automation and robotics that are discussed in the book include sensing and machine vision, control, guidance, manipulation, and end effector technologies. The fundamentals and operating principles of these technologies are explained with examples from cutting edge research and development currently going on around the world. This book brings together scientists, engineers, students, and professionals working in these and related technologies to present their latest examples of agricultural automation and robotics research, innovation, and development while explaining the fundamentals of the technology. The book therefore benefits those who wish to develop novel agricultural engineering solutions and or to adopt them in the future
