2013 June Exam Maths Grade 10:

Testing Times Willis Richard, 2014-02-07 This book focuses on the delivery of public examinations offered by the main examining boards in England since Victorian England. The investigation reveals that the provision of examinations was as controversial in the nineteenth century as it is today, particularly since the government is now determined to bring in reform. The issues of grade inflation, the place of coursework in marking, and the introduction of technological change all feature in this book. Educational policy is primarily examined, as well as some reference to the global scene. The study analyses archival material from a wide range of sources, including those records stored at the National Archives and the London Metropolitan Archives. An emphasis is placed upon the various institutions that contributed to the process, including the Royal Society of Arts, the London Chamber of Commerce, the City of Guilds of London Institute, and the University of London. Attention is given to the findings of the Taunton Commission and the Bryce Commission, and shorter reports such as the Northcote-Trevelyan Report, which served to radicalise entry and recruitment to the Civil Service. The modern GCSE and the plans for I levels are considered, and key observations are made about the efficacy of those examinations offered by Oxford and Cambridge universities, and O levels, A levels, and NVQs. The reader is given every opportunity to benefit enthusiastically in this account of examinations, and those engaged in education, whether teachers, examiners, students, or administrators, will be able to gain useful insights into the workings of the examination system.

Students' Accuracy in Written English Under the Impression of the new "G8" System - a Case Study Johanna Schroeder, 2014-04-11 Inhaltsangabe Introduction In Germany, education matters lie within the scope of each of the 16 German federal states. Consequently, there is no unique educational system which is valid for the entire Federal Republic of Germany, but 16 individual ones. However, a German-wide basic framework, including regulations about compulsory school attendance, for instance, does exist. The duration of compulsory schooling until passing the Abitur at the Gymnasium, however, is not regulated by this framework but belongs to the power of decision of each federal state. For instance, in Thuringia and Saxony, the duration of compulsory schooling at the Gymnasium has been limited to eight years, as it was already the case before the reunification of Germany in 1990. In the other federal states, like North Rhine-Westphalia, for example, the duration of compulsory schooling at the Gymnasium included an additional ninth year, resulting in the fact that the students attended the Gymnasium from grade 5 until grade 13. Nevertheless, in 2001, the ministry of education of the federal state Saarland decided for a reduction of the duration of compulsory schooling at the Gymnasium by one year. By now, all the other federal states have followed and therefore also made the decision for a reduced duration of only eight years at the Gymnasium. After many heated discussions, also the North Rhine-Westphalian ministry of education decided for a reduction of the duration of compulsory schooling at the Gymnasium. As a consequence of this decision, students of two grades, G8 and G9, entered the upper secondary level at all North Rhine-Westphalian Gymnasien on August 31st, 2010. Ministerium für Schule und Weiterbildung des Landes Nordrhein

Westfalen and the students of this so called Doppeljahrgang will all graduate in 2013 and therefore all of them will have to pass the same Abitur exams Hence it must be guaranteed that G8 students have the same preconditions as G9 students despite having one year less of general schooling before graduating Since no students have entered the upper secondary level after only five years at the Gymnasium in North Rhine Westphalia before 2010 empirical research in this area is hardly available by now Nevertheless this Doppeljahrgang offers the unique chance of directly comparing G8 and G9 students in order to find out in how far the new G8 system was implemented successfully or not Especially in the context of learning
