

DAIMLER/CHRYSLER 722.6

TRANSMISSION/VEHICLE APPLICATION

The 722.6 transmission vehicle application has been expanded from Mercedes Benz only applications to include use in some Chrysler built vehicles.

Although this transmission is commonly referred to as the 722.6, it is also known as the W5AXXX, the last three digits change depending on torque capacity. Since the inclusion of Chrysler built vehicles, the transmission variations have increased significantly. Therefore the 722.6 transmissions from this point forward will be designated as the NAG1. The meaning of this designation is New Automatic Gearbox, Generation 1. The reason for this was to have a common transmission name for all the variations in order to prevent complexity in the Daimler/Chrysler operating systems. The chart in Figure 1 shows the Chrysler division designations and vehicle applications for the NAG 1 transmissions for North American and European consumption for up to and including the 2005 model year.

The previous transmission ID tag location and model designation definitions can be seen in Figure 2. The current ID tag location and transmission model designations can be seen in the illustration in Figure 3.
