

AP US History: Sample Essay Scores from the 1987 DBQ

Sample Essay 1: Excellent (score of 9)

By 1850, the Civil War was a possibility. Several attempts had been made to sort out the divisive issue of slavery, but inability to do so created a separation of Northern and Southern interests. The inability to resolve the slavery problem, particularly that of slavery in the new territories was the direct responsibility of the Constitution which, with its customary vagueness, failed to set down a definitive answer to slavery when it could have in 1789. The fact that the Constitution failed to prevent slavery splitting the Union is due to open interpretation of its clauses used by both opponents and proponents of slavery. In addition, the resolve of some abolitionists to ignore the laws and the Constitution further complicated the issue.

In 1789, the framers of the Constitution wished to make a document to unite 13 separate identities into one nation. In order to prevent the alienation of states, they specifically made the Constitution a vague document open to interpretation. Although slavery was never mentioned in the Constitution by name it was generally accepted that the Constitution provided for its existence as property. The Southerners took this interpretation further and said that as slavery is a form of property, slavery should be permitted in the Territories as well (Document B).

The growing tide of Northern abolitionism opposed this view, though, and they used the idea of popular sovereignty (which was also accepted by Northern Democrats like Stephen Douglas) to determine whether slavery was to be allowed in a state. The North felt that the South was forcing slavery onto people who did not want it. (Document F) This was graphically shown in Kansas where popular sovereignty became a divisive issue and a shooting war broke out between Free Soilers and slavery proponents. Southerners felt that the Union was trying to outlaw slavery in the territories when Abraham Lincoln was elected to the Presidency. He felt that slavery in the territories should be banned, but the Southerners felt that this violated their rights as states to have equal access to territories. In response to the changing view of the Constitution the South seceded in 1860. In order to prevent an actual rebellion, President Buchanan, someone quite sympathetic to the South, called for a Constitutional Amendment which would lay down the definitive rights of slave holders in the United States (Document G). Thus differing views of a vague Constitution led to the secession of the South. Although attempts were made to rectify the situation in 1860 they did not come to fruition and the Civil War began.

The Compromise of 1850 (Doc. A) brought another view of the Constitution into the limelight. With the passage of a strengthened fugitive slave law Northern abolitionists felt that they had no duty to obey it as it was immoral, unjust, and against the ideals of humane people (Documents C, E and D). By this being the law they also publicly rebuked the Constitution and allowed a general disobedience of the fugitive slave law to occur. This split the country and facilitated the secession of the South on the terms that it was being discriminated against by the North. Therefore, the mass refusal of one side to carry out their responsibilities under the Constitution led to tension and a split, culminating in the events of 1860.

Finally, the Constitution's vague attitude towards the powers of states led to the secession of the South. If the South had thought that the Constitution forbade its withdrawal it would not have been so hasty to secede. The South took the position that the Constitution was a contract of a state with other independent states (Document H). Southerners felt then that when the contract was no longer carried out it could secede and break its half of the contract. Southerners felt that their states were independent and able to do what they wished except in the cases pointed out in the Constitution. Secession is not mentioned there, and thus the South had the right to secede. The North, on the other hand, felt that the Constitution was an inviolable act of Union. It felt that states had never been truly independent (Document I). Therefore the South could not secede as they had not made the contract as separate states. Hence, the vagueness of the Constitution in the area of its validity as a contract also led to the break up of the Union in 1860.

In 1860, the Constitution, which had initially served as a unifying factor, served as an excuse by the South to secede. This was due to the fact that the document was so vague that it could be interpreted in a variety of ways by many people. Hence the inability of the Constitution to set down definitive language on slavery led to its failure to hold the Union together.

Sample Essay 2: Excellent (score of 8)

The founding fathers constructed the constitution in such a manner as to create unity among the states. It was intended to be a binding force that unified the states, but unfortunately, the ambiguity of the Constitution and its lack of specifications led inevitably to two differing views of interpretation. This conflict became evident in the 1850's; consequently due to the difference in opinion dealing with the constitution, tension mounted between the North and South and ended in the separation of the Union and Civil War.

A major issue during the 1850's was the question of slavery. The North saw it as morally unjust and condemned the South for their use of slavery. The South justified their actions by stating that the Southern economy thrives on slave labor and could not function

Flash Larry Krieger, 2011-02-07 US History in a Flash is the definitive prep book for both the AP US History exam and the SAT II US History subject test. The book is based upon a bold new approach. Instead of trying to be a mini textbook that covers everything, US History in a Flash uses the Direct Hits selective approach of only focusing on topics that have generated clusters of questions. Here are some of the book's unique features: 40 chronological chapters that focus on 196 key topics. Each topic is covered in a vivid narrative outline. Over 100 study tips that tell students what to ignore and what to emphasize. Correlations to the treasure trove of information found at the College Board's AP Central website. Detailed chapters on the DBQ and Free Response essays that include annotated sample essays and thesis paragraphs. A triple tier study plan that includes long term, mid term, and short term materials. The short term materials include ten Top Ten lists of key points students absolutely positively have to know. Additional coverage of post World War II topics that are often skimmed over or even skipped in classes that fall behind schedule. SAT vocabulary words taken from the renowned Direct Hits vocabulary books are integrated and defined in the narrative. About the Author: Larry Krieger is the leading authority on US History, World History, Art History, and the SAT, having written over 20 books on the subjects. In a teaching career that has spanned over 40 years, Krieger has taught urban, rural, and suburban students. In 2004 and 2005, the College Board recognized Larry as one of America's most successful AP teachers. Krieger is particularly proud of US History in a Flash. It contains a lifetime of key points, strategies, and tips for both the AP US History exam and the SAT II US History subject test.
