GUIDED READING England and France Develop

A. Using Sequential Order As you read about the democratic traditions that evolved as England and France developed into nations, answer questions about the time line below.

1066	The Battle of Hastings is fought.	→	1. How did this event affect the course of English history? When William took control, he unified England and laid the foundation for a centralized government.
1154	Henry II becomes ruler of England.	↗	2. How did Henry II strengthen England's legal system? He sent royal judges to every part of England once a year to collect taxes, settle lawsuits and punish crimes. He also introduced the jury to England and created common law.
1204	Philip II of France regains Normandy from the English.	↗	3. How did Philip strengthen the central government in France? He unified it more, and became more powerful than any of his vassals. He also appointed bailiffs who went to other districts to collect his taxes.
1215	The Magna Carta is signed by King John of England.	→	4. Why is this document so important? It applied to all classes, and gave them certain basic rights.
1226	Louis IX becomes king of France.	↘	5. How did Louis strengthen the monarchy while weakening feudal ties? He created a French Appeals court which weakened the power of the local courts.
1295	Model Parliament meets during reign of Edward I of England.	→	6. How was this meeting a major step toward democratic government? It limited the power of a single ruler while also weakening other powerful lords.

B. Writing Expository Paragraphs On the back of this paper, explain the importance of William the Conqueror and Eleanor of Aquitaine in English history.

William unified England when he took over. He played a key role in centralizing the government. He had lords who had sworn oaths directly to him in control of the different areas, so he had more power. Eleanor married Henry the second, adding Aquitaine onto the lands Henry had already gotten from his father, William.
