Conservation Biology for All Navjot S. Sodhi, Paul R. Ehrlich, 2010-01-08 Conservation Biology for All provides cutting edge but basic conservation science to a global readership A series of authoritative chapters have been written by the top names in conservation biology with the principal aim of disseminating cutting edge conservation knowledge as widely as possible Important topics such as balancing conversion and human needs climate change conservation planning designing and analyzing conservation research ecosystem services endangered species management extinctions fire habitat loss and invasive species are covered Numerous textboxes describing additional relevant material or case studies are also included The global biodiversity crisis is now unstoppable what can be saved in the developing world will require an educated constituency in both the developing and developed world Habitat loss is particularly acute in developing countries which is of special concern because it tends to be these locations where the greatest species diversity and richest centres of endemism are to be found Sadly developing world conservation scientists have found it difficult to access an authoritative textbook which is particularly ironic since it is these countries where the potential benefits of knowledge application are greatest There is now an urgent need to educate the next generation of scientists in developing countries so that they are in a better position to protect their natural resources

Defining Institutions for Collaborative Mangrove Management Mike Nurse, 2000 Linking Biodiversity

Conservation and Poverty Alleviation, 2010 In 2002 the Conference of Parties set a target to achieve by 2010 a significant reduction of the current rate of biodiversity loss at the global regional and national level as a contribution to poverty alleviation and the benefit of all life on Earth We have failed to meet the 2010 target and the latest MDG report notes the grave consequences of this for poor people The irreparable loss of biodiversity will also hamper efforts to meet other MDGs especially those related to poverty hunger and health by increasing the vulnerability of the poor and reducing their options for development The CBD has long emphasised the need for integrating DEPENDENCE OF THE POOR ON BIODIVERSITY This review focuses on the question which groups of the differentiated poor depend in which types of ways on different elements of biological diversity The methodology for the review included an examination of the peer reviewed literature as published in journals and books and an examination of websites and portals of major organisations forums working on biodiversity conservation and poverty alleviation It may be too simplistic to say that the majority of the world's biodiversity is in the South which is also where the poorer countries of the world are Schei 2007 Matiku 2008 and it is certainly not the case that significant biodiversity only occurs in areas of poverty
