1. Many traditional product costing systems:
  - A. trace manufacturing overhead to individual activities and require the development of numerous activity-costing rates.
  - B. write off manufacturing overhead as an expense of the current period.
  - C. combine widely varying elements of overhead into a single cost pool.
  - D. use a host of different cost drivers (e.g., number of production setups, inspection hours, orders processed) to improve the accuracy of product costing.
  - E. produce results far superior to those achieved with activity-based costing.
